Makes Clean Sweep in Hennepin County Presidential Primary

MONDAY IS TO BE BIG DAY

Most of County Conventions Will Be Held Then Ohio Campaign Plans

MINNEAPOLIS, May 11 (Saturday).—Indications early this morning are that Theodore Roosevelt has carried the presidential preferential primary in Hennepin county, which is identical with the fifth congressional district, and will control the county convention. Col. Earle Luce, chairman of the Hennepin county Republican committee, and a supporter of President Taft, said last night shortly before the headquarters closed.

Most of the county conventions will be held on May 13 and the district conventions on May 14. The Republican state convention will be held on May 16.

EVARETT, Wash. May 10.—The Snohomish county county Republican convention at Monroe today elected 35 delegates to the state convention at Aberdeen, instructed for Roosevelt.

Notable List of Speakers.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Roosevelt campaign in Ohio next week is to take in a number of prominent national speakers, according to statements made today at the headquarters here. Senator Clapp is to speak in the state every day except Fridays. Senator Ford, Governor Stubbs of Kansas and Representative Victor Mendenhall are to speak throughout the week.

OSCAR STEINER, of New York secretary of commerce and labor under President Roosevelt, William Dudley Bourke of Indiana Governor Hadley of Missouri Controller Prendergast of New York and Bainbridge Colby of New York are among the speakers listed for the campaign.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. May 10.—The Roosevelt wing of the Republican party in Alabama will hold its state congressional conventions in Birmingham tomorrow. Six delegates-at-large will be elected and contesting delegates will be sent from practically every congressional district.

Not Going to Chicago.

OSFORD, N. Y. May 10.—I am not going to Chicago, said Colonel Roosevelt tonight when his attention was called.

A. R. Hart, Massachusetts T. R. Delegate, Explains Election

The causes which led to the mixup in the presidential primaries in Massachusetts are explained by Albert Bushnell Hart, one of the eight delegates-at-large elected on the Roosevelt ticket. Hart is in Colorado Springs as executive professor from Harvard at Colorado College.

It is Mr. Hart's opinion that the Roosevelt delegates will wait until the state has been canvassed by the election board before they decide whether to vote for the colonel or heed his expressed wish to cast their ballots for Taft.

Professor Hart's statement follows:

Professor Hart's Explanation.

The Republican organization of Massachusetts is one of the most thorough in the country. The state has, nevertheless, a Democratic governor, and at the last election for senator the legislature was so nearly evenly divided that Senator Lodge was re-elected by a very narrow majority, with the aid of a few Democratic votes. Therefore, there seems to be no ground for contending the state is the next election, although it is generally said Republican on a national election, never having elected any of a Republican national elector since 1860.

Nearly all the men in national and state offices, in Massachusetts, are Republicans. The Republican party, therefore, seemed hopeless to try to start a progressive movement till last year when a body of young men headed by Matthew Hale, who had a reputation as a man of high character, determined to make the fight. There was no hope of carrying the state for Roosevelt in the usual county convention method, and they decided that they should be

of Minnesota Made Public by Committee

NEW YORK, May 10.—The Roosevelt committee today gave out the following copy of a letter from Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to R. A. Caswell of Minneapolis.

"New York, May 10, 1912. 'Hon. R. A. Caswell, chairman of the Roosevelt committee and clerk of the supreme court, Minneapolis, Minn. 'I wish it had been possible for me to go again to Minnesota. Unfortunately it is physically impossible.

"Nine states have now held presidential primaries, or their equivalent—North Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Oregon, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maryland. These states, the only ones in which there has been a free choice for the expression of the popular will, are to be represented by 236 delegates in the Chicago convention.

"Forty of these delegates are instructed for President Taft and 216 are against him. He has carried but two of the nine states—New Hampshire and Massachusetts—while in Massachusetts the Roosevelt delegates-at-large were elected by over twice the majority which Mr. Taft obtained on preferential vote.

"In all the nine states together about three out of every four of the Republicans who voted at the primaries were against Mr. Taft. It is probable that he could be held in all the states there would undoubtedly be no substantial variation from these figures, and Mr. Taft could by no possibility have 200 votes in the Chicago convention.

Taft Must Depend on Bosses.

"Mr. Taft's chance of renomination lies solely in securing at Chicago delegates who will misrepresent the will of the people. He can get these delegates not in the primary states but in the convention states where delegates are chosen under the old system and even in these states he can only get them where the state is ruled by a boss. After a prolonged experience with me as president practically all of the big bosses in the Republican party dislike me so heartily that they opposed Mr. Taft's nomination because I favored it. They were afraid that Mr. Taft would give them the same kind of trouble that I had given them.

"After three years' and a half experience of Mr. Taft since he has been elected, these same men have turned around and heartily favor his renomination. They were opposed to me four years ago and they are opposed to me now. They were opposed to Mr. Taft four years ago when they had trusted him as president and they heartily support him now.

"These men include for instance Mr. Gallinger in New Hampshire, Mr. Aldrich in Rhode Island, Mr. Penrose in Pennsylvania, Mr. Keating in Indiana, Mr. Lorimer in Illinois, Messrs. Cullenheim and Evans in Colorado, Mr. Callahan in the Southern Pacific Railway in California and in Montana and in your own state they include Mr. Smith and Mr. Tanner. The fight is a nationwide fight of the plain people against the bosses.

Became Candidate When Needed.

"There is just one candidate whom it is possible to nominate against the bosses and that is myself. Every vote for every other candidate from now on is in reality a vote for Mr. Taft. The fight is against the bosses in Minnesota as it is everywhere else. A vote

BEWITCHING DANCES AND MAGNIFICENT COSTUMES MAKE KIRMESS BIG SUCCESS

Elaborate Effects and Beauty of New Burns Theater Add to Brilliance of Show Performers Far Above Usual Amateurs Production Given Again This Afternoon

The perfect style and grace of the dancers, the magnificence of the costumes, the catchy and inspiring music and the wonderful scenic and electrical effects all combined, made an extraordinary success of the Kirmess given at the Burns last night by the pupils of Mrs. Frank Smith of Denver for the children's hospital. Almost every seat was taken.

Every one of the 20 dances given was as nearly perfect as is possible in an amateur performance, and several would have done credit to a professional. It is almost impossible to name a "best" dancer, but the two dancing of little Miss Cecil Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jones of Denver, perhaps was the best ever given here by an amateur. Miss Jones has made many appearances in Denver and in other cities and she is generally given first place among amateur dancers of the country. Last night she danced "Valse Caprice," a dance of extraordinary beauty, and literally brought down the house. She responded to the applause with a toe dance even more beautiful and difficult than the first and it was only after she had bowed to the audience many times that the performance was allowed to proceed. Little Miss Marcelle Kline also a toe dancer of Denver danced one of Tchaikowski's waltzes with perfect grace and ease. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kline.

"Shepherd and Angel" Miss Margaret Sturges and Miss Dorothy Woods in a pantomime interpretation of the story of the shepherd and the angel, also did some excellent work. In the opening scene the shepherd has lost his sheep and is very despondent and finally gives up in despair. The angel enters, and seeing him in his distress, begs him to tell her what is the matter. He pays no attention to her entreaties and finally she urges him to take courage. She says that the sheep are not lost and that she will help him find them. Finally the shepherd explains to her that while he was asleep the sheep strayed away and were lost. The angel points to the distant hills and tells him that his sheep are over there. He seems to be more interested than when he first catches a glimpse of the sheep in the distance. He is overcome with joy and begins to dance. The angel joins in the dance, but the shepherd is so intent and happy about having found

AMUSEMENT CLAUSE STILL UNDECIDED

MINNEAPOLIS, May 10.—Paragraph 26 of the discipline of the Methodist Episcopal church still is undecided and whether dancing, card playing and kindred amusements are to be left only to the conscience of the members of the church remains a bone of contention in the committee on the state of the church.

For three hours this afternoon members of the committee battled over a question following the majority report of the subcommittee which favored the striking out of that portion of the discipline.

Immediately after the presentation of the majority report the minority on the subcommittee presented a report opposing the adoption of the resolution and it was this measure which was before the entire committee when a motion to adjourn until Monday was adopted.

Dr. Leander W. Munhall of Philadelphia administered a reproof to the college bishops of the church when he said in opposing the striking out of the section that the bishops' duties are such they cannot give full consideration to the spiritual affairs of the church and their judgment in this case is not of the best.

At the night session which was given over to the report of the board of education of the church addresses were made by Charles W. Fairbanks former vice president of the United States and Bishop W. F. Anderson.

Mr. Fairbanks' address was on the work of the church upon the nation and paid especial attention to the work of Christian colleges as an aid to proper government.

The report of the board of education told of the work being done among needy students and of the aid given to the different schools of the church.

PENSION BILL TO PRESIDENT

General Measures Providing Pensions Up to One Dollar for Veterans

House

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The house today agreed, 173 to 57, to the conference report of the general pension bill providing pensions up to $1 a day for veterans of the Civil and Mexican wars. It now goes to the president for his signature. Many Democrats voted with the Republicans for the bill. Representative Kent of California cast the only vote against it.

the sheep that he doesn't know what a beautiful creature he is dancing with. During the dance he discovers how beautiful she is and tries to embrace her, but she repulses him and the dance goes on. The shepherd who is madly in love with the angel by this time, continues in his efforts to embrace her, but she slips from under his arm each time. Finally she flies into the heavens, and he over one with grief and surprise. His lead, Miss Woods danced the part of the shepherd, and Miss Sturges that of the angel, both with great grace and beauty.

"Wind and Wave" Dance Miss Woods, and Miss Sturges, assisted by Miss Margaret Miller, also danced the beautiful "Wind and Wave" waltz. This number in which the young ladies interpret the waves being blown from side to side by the wind, was made the more beautiful by the excellent electrical effects. The costumes were aqua marine chiffon and gauze, with crystals hanging from the skirts, which represented the drops of water. The Misses Woods and Miller also danced the Polish Violeka one of the famous dances of the Noddy-Palovs ballet.

Robert Herr of Denver deserves great credit for the work he did in his dance last night. Virginia Sledge, the little Denver girl who was to have danced the Bostonian with Master Herr, suddenly became ill and did not arrive here yesterday. Master Herr consented to go on in a dance after having rehearsed it only once that being yesterday afternoon and he did so with high will being one of those who received an encore.

In the parlor dance an artistic outdoor parlour number, Miss Jeanette Hawkins did some very creditable work and displayed considerable talent. The Columbian dance by Miss Dorothy Woods in a beautiful costume representing the tower of Colorado was exceedingly graceful and well executed. Miss Woods, who appeared in four dances, was among the leaders on the program.

OUTLINE PROVISIONS OF NEW AMENDMENT

Will Soon Circulate Petitions to Initiate Constitutional Measure

As soon as the proposed amendment can be drawn up printed and attached to petition blanks the latter will be circulated so that the matter of a constitutional amendment may be initiated. The purpose of the amendment is to nullify a recent court decision abolishing nonpartisan features of city charters. About 15,000 names will be necessary and it is expected that Colorado Springs will furnish approximately one-fifth of that number.

Following a conference in Pueblo a few days ago between City Attorney McKesson and the city attorneys of Pueblo and Grand Junction the three cities operating under similar charters, another conference was held here yesterday, attended by City Attorney McKesson and Attorneys H. G. Lund, Henry C. Hall, W. J. Chinn, Dunbar Carpenter, W. H. Spurgeon and H. Alexander Smith with a view of drafting the proposed amendment. Following is a general statement of the provisions to be set forth in the amendment as recommended.

PROVISIONS OF AMENDMENT

Proposals for charter conventions may be submitted to the city council at any time and shall be submitted upon a petition filed by the required number of qualified voters as set forth in Article 5 of the Twentieth amendment. Delegates shall be elected, charter conventions held, and charters submitted for adoption or rejection at the times provided for in Sections 4 and 5 of the Twentieth amendment.

Whenever any city has voted to hold a charter convention in accordance with the proposed amendment the citizens of such city shall have the exclusive power to adopt a new charter, and such charter when adopted shall be the organic law of the city and supersede any existing charters and amendments thereto. Such charter may be amended or a new charter adopted in the same manner as set forth in Sections 4 and 5 of the Twentieth amendment.

Any such city adopting a charter pursuant to the provisions of the proposed amendment shall have the power granted in Sections 4 and 5 of the Twentieth amendment, with full power to regulate real and personal property and public utilities, works and ways as

GREAT DAMAGE DUE TO STORMS

IOWA, MISSOURI AND KANSAS VISITED

Lightning Causes $100,000 Fire at Des Moines Streets Are Flooded

DES MOINES, May 10.—Des Moines was visited by a severe rain and electrical storm tonight which caused damages running well into the thousands. Lightning struck the five-story warehouse of the Davidson Bros. Furniture Co. and the flames are beyond control. Hundreds of basements in the downtown districts were flooded during the downpour.

The loss to the warehouse of the Davidson Bros. Furniture Co. which was almost completely destroyed, was estimated at $100,000, partly covered by insurance. Firemen were handicapped by low water pressure.

Several small buildings in the suburbs were struck by lightning small damage resulting.

Guests hurried from cafes and hotel lobbies as the water poured in from the streets. Two and twelve hundredths inches of rain fell in 45 minutes.

The heavy rain was general throughout central Iowa.

KANSAS CITY, May 10.—A heavy rain storm in some places a downpour and in others accompanied by a high wind which did damage of nearly $5,000 visited western Missouri and Kansas as far west as New county in the central west portion of that state. In New county the rain amounted to almost a cloudburst.

In eastern Kansas, Parsons reported that streets were flooded and that a high wind had done damage of more than $30,000. In Galena and many smaller towns of southeastern Kansas the rain was heavy.

The storm struck Kansas City shortly after dark and for two hours the downpour continued. At Joplin many smaller buildings were damaged and mining plants injured. In southwest Missouri many mines were flooded.

Special to the Gazette

"CRIPPLE CREEK, May 10.—A severe wind storm with flurries of snow, struck the Cripple Creek district early this afternoon. A scale of 10 miles an hour was reported at Gillette. The handlers were obliged to come in.

CHARGES BRYAN IS AFTER NOMINATION

WASHINGTON, May 10.—An attack upon William J. Bryan stating that his attitude in this presidential campaign can be counted for only one thing, the hypothesis that he hopes to again be nominated at the Baltimore convention, was given out here today by the Harmon national headquarters. The statement calls on the Democrats of the country to give aid and comfort to the real situation. It declares that a successful candidate must this year carry northern states as well as those that Bryan carried in his last campaign and says the Nebraska is opposing Governor Harmon because the latter is strong in the north.

The Harmon statement adds further that Mr. Bryan is "clinging with both hands and feet to the old platform" and his evident desire to play one against the other in the hope of precipitating a deadlock at Baltimore, expecting thereby that he may stampede the convention for his own nomination.

The amount of the judgment includes money advanced interest on the $4,000,000 secured from Haligaton & Co. of New York and $500,000 of the principal of the loan paid by the holding company. The action was merely a formal one in connection with the receiverships of the Moffat road and the securities company. The judgment was the largest ever entered in a Denver court.

NEW ORLEANS MAN DROWNS

Joseph Dolle, a clerk in the employ of the Pinkies Dicks Drug Co., while en route to call on a young lady, fell into a ditch. The accident was witnessed by several persons, but efforts to recover Dolle's body failed.

HEAVY RAINS AND HIGH WINDS PLAY HAVOC IN THE FLOODED DISTRICTS

Veritable Cloudburst Already Terrific Strain on Mississippi Levees Situation Particularly Grave at Baton Rouge, New Roads and Morganza Half Foot of Water in Downtown Streets of New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—New Orleans tonight withstood the severest rain storm in her history. All the lower half of Louisiana was affected and thousands of persons who live behind the already terribly strained levees that held back the Mississippi flooded waters were panicky.

The wind ranged from 27 miles an hour at New Orleans to 40 miles at Baton Rouge and at many points along the river it swept the waves of the swollen stream over the levees.

At New Orleans five and one half inches of rain fell from noon until 10 o'clock tonight and about four inches between 7 and 9 o'clock. The Mississippi river was backed up by the high winds and rose eight inches in two hours between 8 and 10 o'clock tonight, forcing the water over the levees at several points.

At 10 o'clock the river gauge at the head of Canal street registered 24.5 feet or one-tenth of a foot higher than the maximum stage predicted by the weather bureau.

At 11 o'clock the gauge showed a drop of one-tenth of a foot for the hour but rain continued to pour down in torrents.

Dozens of messages poured in to the office of army engineers in charge of rumors broke in the levees above New Orleans. None of them have been verified up to midnight, although little hope was expressed at seeing the levees at Baton Rouge. At Morganza, La. Landry, Donaldville, Plaquemine, the situation was declared to be critical.

Thirty-five thousand sand bags were dispatched from New Orleans to Baton Rouge on a special train tonight. The situation was declared most critical there with people in saving the front levee almost hopeless.

At New Orleans the water poured over the sand bag topping at the foot of Esplanade street and a force of men was rushed there to stop the holes and pile the embankment higher.

Guards were placed along the entire river front and precautions were taken to close quickly every street where there was an overflow.

Six to Seven Inches in Streets

The streets of New Orleans were flooded as never in the city's history. In the upper part of the city the water was six to seven inches deep on the sidewalks. In the downtown business section Canal street and all the intersecting streets were flooded over the sidewalks and the water entered stores on a number of streets.

There was such a strong current in some of the city's streets due to the excessive rainfall that many persons were alarmed and feared there had been an overflow from the river. At midnight the rainfall was not heavy but many of the streets were still flooded to a depth of six to eight inches.

Storm Formed Near Shreveport

From reports obtained tonight the storm which caused the damage from New Orleans moving northeast struck the Mississippi river near the Big Horn bend and continued on with the velocity of a cyclone. The storm apparently was greater in the territory between New Roads and Baton Rouge where reports received here stated that the velocity was 40 miles an hour.

From New Roads a report said that four inches of rain had fallen there since noon and a cloudburst was upon the town at 7 p. m.

Notwithstanding the heavy rains and wind the levees in the vicinity of New Orleans still were holding well after the storm passed. City officials reiterated their declaration that there was not the slightest danger of any serious levee trouble here.

Twenty men reached the Esplanade street levee at 10 o'clock and within half an hour the overflow there had been checked.

Captain Logan of the army engineers has collected a fleet of small boats at Baton Rouge. The United States revenue cutters Windom and Winona due at New Orleans Saturday morning have been ordered here because of the critical situation at New Roads. A number of vessels have been sent there to assist in getting the people of that district out of danger.

Seventy thousand tons were ordered by Captain Logan shipped to New Roads tonight. The refugees in that town have been running to the Baton Rouge branch of the Southern Railway for a week under the care of Sheriff Parker, who is expected tonight because of high water.

AFTER REVISION OF PATENT LAW

TAFI ASKS AUTHORITY FOR COMMISSION

Would Name Body to Investigate and Report What Changes Needed

WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Taft today took a decided step toward remained practically unchanged since 1870. He sent a special message to congress asking for legislation to authorize him to appoint a commission to investigate the patent laws and report
what changes were necessary to make them fit modern conditions.

The president referred to the recent
"patent monopoly" decision of the supreme court, through which users of a certain machine were compelled to buy from the company which sold the machine a certain kind of ink for use
with it, and enumerated five other reasons which he said demanded the revision of the patent law.

First was that large corporations bought patents for improvement and suppressed their manufacture.
"The public," said the message,
"never receives the benefit of such inventions during the life of the patent."
The president referred to the patent
laws of other nations and wrote:

"It is worthy of careful consideration
whether legislation should be enacted
to prevent our patent laws from being made the basis of unjust monopoly extending beyond the legitimate protection to inventors required to promote science and the useful arts, or the means of stifling improvement and the progress of the arts."

The president urged that procedure
under the patent laws be simplified
and that the burden of proving the invalidity of a patent be placed on him
who would infringe upon it.

In conclusion, the president wrote:
"Great care should be taken in any revision not unduly to interfere with vested interests which have been properly created under the existing laws,
or to impair the efficiency of a system
from which so much benefit has been derived by the country."

TRYING TO IDENTIFY WOMAN WHO WAS SLAIN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 10.—
Clothing bearing the tag of a Chicago
department store may lead to the identification of a well-dressed woman
whose murdered body was found here
last night in a newly completed house. All identification marks have been furnished to the Chicago police.
The woman was a brunette, 5 feet,
3 inches tall and about 40 years old.
Physicians said today she had lived 12 hours after being injured and must have suffered great agony from a fracture in her skull apparently caused by a beer bottle lying near by. The body was found by a carpenter's apprentice who went to look over the house.

Neighbors remembered having seen
the woman in company with a short blonde man, who seemed to be posing
as a real estate agent.
"There's your house," he was heard
to remark before they entered it.
An effort to burn the body was abandoned because a building paper used in the attempt had been treated to a fire-proofing solution.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 10.—Passenger train No. 94 on the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad struck a southbound freight at a siding at Smith-
land, five miles north of Vincennes, shortly after midnight. Two men were killed and two injured. All four were stealing a ride.

ROOSEVELT IS

to reports that he had become alarmed
at the course of the campaign and would attend the Republican national convention in Chicago as a proxy delegate from Brooklyn.
Colonel Roosevelt laughed at the report and added:
"I am not going to Chicago."

BUTTE, Mont., May 10.—With delegates already chosen from 21 of the 32
counties in Montana to the Republican state convention at Livingston next Thursday, the proportion of Taft to Roosevelt men is two to one. To date 413 delegates have been chosen, of which 254 are said to be Taft men and 159 for Roosevelt. There are yet to be chosen 244.

The Taft people claim they will have a clear working majority of 70 on the floor of the convention. Senator Dixon will not be chosen as a member of the national convention from Montana,
they assert.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The leaders of the Taft delegates in California to sign the preference and delegates' pledges promises an exceedingly complex situation. Roosevelt supporters already have planned to contest
the rights of the delegates should they be elected.

Both sides are agreed that the Taft delegates had a legal right to omit signing the pledges inasmuch as both sides, under the law, are equal.
Roosevelt leaders declare the purpose of the action was
to save some struggling votes for Taft
in the event that Roosevelt carried the majority of the district. Had they signed the pledges, they would have been obliged to vote for Roosevelt as the delegates' pledge binds them "to support that candidate who shall have received the highest number of votes
cast throughout the state."

From Roosevelt headquarters comes the intimation that any attempt to seat delegates from scattering districts
will be contested on the ground that the Taft men are not delegates from any particular district but delegates
at large.

DALLAS, Tex., May 10.—Under Texas law and political party usage
the state conventions, Democratic at Houston and Republican at Fort Worth, both to take place on May 22,
may claim the power to reject or ratify
district delegates, 32 of whom are yet to be elected by each party, in addition to the eight delegates at large
chosen by the state conventions.

On the face of the returns from county conventions, the delegates from which to the state convention are as a rule identical with delegates to district conventions it will be impossible
for Woodrow Wilson's opponents to secure strength among district delegates to Baltimore from this state. The Republican result remains in doubt.

Unofficial returns do not show a majority for either Taft or Roosevelt.
Returns up to today show: Democratic-Wilson's state convention majority, 50 to 60 votes; 12 districts assigned to Wilson, one for Harmon, one for Clark, one unassigned and one divided by courtesy (Eight) because
the state convention meets at Houston.
Republican-Instructed to state convention for Roosevelt, 3 delegates; for Taft, 1 delegate; unassigned, 1 delegate.
The results are not final, however, as determined because last of returns
from many counties have not been received and failure in many others to hold county conventions enough to control balance of power.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 10.—In six counties where Republican presidential preferences primaries were held tonight, 80 delegates to the state convention were instructed for Roosevelt. Six were instructed for Taft.

CONDENSED INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF WORLD

National Socialist Executive Committee
Not in Sympathy With Methods
to Secure Free Speech

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—
After arranging details for the national convention which will begin here Sunday morning, the National Socialist executive committee, which began its session today, stood on record as demanding free speech, but condemning "free speech fights" and methods by which free speech is being sought by the Industrial Workers of the World.

The action of the authorities in San Diego, Cal., to prohibit attempts to prohibit free speech, was condemned by the committee. It was also decided to assist citizens of San Diego in their efforts to obtain free speech.

John M. Work of Chicago, national secretary of the party, reported that a gain of more than 300 per cent had been made in membership in the last four years. He reported that in 1908
the total membership was a little more than 41,000 and that now it is more than 142,000.

The woman's national committee of the Socialist party voted down a proposition to try to nominate a woman
for vice president of the United States. Plans for spreading the doctrines of Socialism among the women of the country, especially in those states where they have been given the right to vote, were discussed.

The executive committee decided that the national convention should continue only one week and should conclude the work by Saturday, May 18.

Says Lady Duff-Gordon and Husband Kept Boat From Doing Rescue Work

LONDON, May 10.—The testimony
given by the board of trade's Titanic inquiry by Charles Hendrickson, one of the firemen of the Titanic, who said the lifeboat was on had not returned to the scene of the disaster
because Sir Cosmo and Lady Duff-Gordon objected that it would be dangerous to do so was considered so important by the White Star company,
that its attorney at the opening of the inquiry today requested that the cross-examination of the witness be postponed. The attorney desired time to consult with the officers of the Titanic,
who are on their way to England on board the Adriatic. The request was granted.

Members of the crew were today examined as to how they left the Titanic,
the number of passengers in their boats and whether they returned to the scene of the disaster to try to rescue some of those in the water.

RIOTING FOLLOWS DAY OF QUIET IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 10.—After a quiet
day, rioting followed in several places
on the west side tonight when news-
boys attempted to dispose of Chicago
papers printed in offices where pressmen and delivery wagon drivers were on strike. Frank Smith, a newsboy, was beaten severely by a crowd
of union sympathizers and his papers were burned. A riot call was turned in and police arrested two men on charges of assault.

A negro newsboy was beaten at another place. Police were called to disperse six times to disperse a crowd
which threatened to burn newspapers.
After the police left the last time, the papers were burned.
At the newspaper offices it was said
many stereotypers who went out on a sympathetic strike against the order of their international president, J. J.
Freel, were seeking their old positions.
From the headquarters of the Press-
men's union a pamphlet attacking Freel for his action in canceling the charter of the local union was issued tonight. He was charged with being the tool of the newspaper publishers.

900 MINERS TAKE PART IN REVOLVER FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—One man was fatally wounded and three others seriously hurt in a revolver fight participated in by 900 miners at Bend, Ill.,
today, according to a long distance
telephone message. The trouble occurred at the Superior Coal company's mine and was due to a disagreement
as to whether the men should go to work.

Altogether 900 miners were involved in the clash. As 450 miners from Gillepie, who worked in mine No. 3, were about to enter the mine, a like number of miners, who live in Bend and work in mine No. 2, threatened them if they entered the mine. First shots were fired into the air and later into the crowds of miners.

The same forces fought yesterday
with clubs and one miner suffered a broken arm. All in the fight are foreigners.

ANXIOUS TO ADOPT WAIFS

CHICAGO, May 10.—Three wealthy bachelors of Chicago have tired of spending their money recklessly and are anxious to adopt five 4-year-old boys. Two of the men want to become the foster fathers of twins while
the third prefers to adopt only one boy.

The identity of the men is held a secret. Their wishes were made known through Dr. A. L. Lindsay Wynkoop
in an address before the Congress of Mothers last night. The boys will be well taken care of, it was said. In each case a governess will be appointed and all will wear fine clothes
and play with costly toys. In addition they will be given the best education possible.

Dr. Wynkoop said the men were afraid if their identity was known they would be ridiculed. No boys have been selected yet.

Weather reports are sent from Gibralter to London daily by wireless telegraph.

Orozco, Sr., Issues Proclamation; Asks for Humane Warfare

MADRID, May 10.—Pascual Orozco,
Sr., father of the rebel military chief,
today issued a proclamation as secretary of war in the cabinet of Provisional President Emilio Vasquez Gomez, urging all rebel chiefs to the "strictest observance of the laws of war as recognized by all civilized countries."
The proclamation is made at the direction of Gomez and though no advices have come from Gen. Pascual Orozco as yet to signify his approval
of the executive authority assumed
by Gomez recently it is considered likely that whatever else Orozco may repudiate he will not discontinue
any declarations of his father.
The elder Orozco recommends humane warfare not only to answer in this way the summary executions, incidental acts and destruction of property that frequently are made by the troops of the Madero government but principally on account of the noble ideals of liberty and justice that the revolution is striving for. Persons and property of non-combatants must
be not only respected but protected,
extending them all possible guarantees.
The statement further says:
"The provisional president recommends that prisoners of war shall be treated according to the laws of war,
always bearing in mind that we are fighting our brothers who are forced to go to the field of battle by the iniquitous levy that is being practiced by the Madero government or by the error of incited passion. The provisional president does not deem it necessary
to call to the attention of the brave
defenders of the revolutionary cause of the necessity to avoid least friction with any foreign power as they always will take care that foreigners
may not suffer any more trouble than
is possible in region disturbed by war."
Advisers from General Orozco early today confirmed reports of skirmishes
yesterday at Tlaxiualilo. Orozco declared merely that his advance guard captured 15 prisoners. He wired that two columns of 1,000 men each were advancing parallel to the railroad toward Bernalillo and Marimol, reinforced by a rear guard of 4,000 men and more reserves close behind.

MRS. A. A. MCCLURG DEAD

DENVER, May 10.—Mrs. A. A. Mc-Clurg, an aunt of Frances McClurg,
heiress of her late uncle, David H.
Moffat, died at the St. Francis hotel yesterday afternoon. Death came from acute toxemia. Mrs. McClurg had been in a serious condition and semiconscious for several weeks.

Mrs. Caroline Sherwood, a sister, is on the way from Chicago to take charge of the funeral. Mrs. McClurg's husband is in Philadelphia. The I. N.
Rogers Undertaking company has charge of the remains.

Just a few weeks ago Mrs. McClurg returned to Denver from a visit in the east. She was taken ill and it was thought at one time she would survive,
but later she became unconscious and
suffered a general breakdown.
Mrs. McClurg's husband is a brother of J. A. McClurg, son-in-law of David H. Moffat. Mrs. McClurg, who died yesterday, was a school teacher. She also possessed a fine voice. She did not make her home in Denver and had but few friends here.

Don't blame that pipe for scorching your

That's what made you pipe shy.

Don't say "I CAN'T smoke a pipe!" YOU CAN—if you smoke Prince Albert tobacco,
because it simply can't bite your tongue!

PRINCE ALBERT

is the grandest pipe tobacco ever put on the market
—grandest because it has had the "bite" taken out in the patent process by which it is produced!

And hammer a pin in here: "P. A." rolls into the finest cigarette you ever put a match to. Talk about freshness, and sweetness! why, it's just about what the doctor ordered
—and absolutely different from the dust brands that sure don't get anybody anything. You take it straight, "P. A." is an education to any man who knows the joys
of rolling 'em himself.

Can we make this advertisement
any stronger than to add that it took three years and a fortune to perfect Prince Albert tobacco. We know it is right; we want you to know what we say is right!

whom the late Ross Winans, the eccentric Baltimore millionaire, left $500,000 of his $4,000,000 estate. Her father is the proprietor of the Bateman house, and both he and his daughter are well known to all of the fashionable New-

and the quality of the butter and eggs he sells, which branch of the business is managed by Miss Dorothy. Despite the news of the legacy the young lady is going on with her work just the same as usual and starts out in her buggy every morning to "serve her customers."

BEWITCHING DANCES

Officer, Frances Cuykendall and Virginia Kaufmann, and the latter by Josephine Lowe, were very picturesque and caused much merriment in the audience.

The duet by Tachikowsky, danced by Jane Eliabath Phillips and Lindy Hamilton, both of Denver, was very fetching, and the dances were among the prettiest seen. Miss Gladys Burns, in the Coquette dance, also did some excellent work.

The other dancers were: Gayotte by Dorothy and Helen Drummond; an Roudy by Berthe Armit and Mary Casement; Minuet by Mildred Sheehan, Elizabeth Howbert, Gracie Milne and Isabel Postlethwaite; Mountain March by Florence Knox, Dorothy Hammond and Grace Hammond; Russian Peasant dance by Caroline Lorig and Smith Yates; Pliotot and Pierrette by Louise Sholem and Ruth Wiley; the Hungarian Cardash by Eleanor Greenwood, Nancy Jackson, Mary Casement and Berthe Armit; and the Daffodil dance by Irene Lorig, Catharine Carroll, Christine Bender, Pease Jackson, Wilhelmus Singer, Katharine Pettie, Louise Sholem and Ruth Wiley.

After the performance last night, manager W. E. Dunning of the Auditorium sent his assistants to the city at an extremely low rate.

Teachers and children have shown an interest in the Kirmess that ladies having it in charge are anxious to give the children the benefit of extra good seats. The performance this afternoon will start at 2:30 sharp and the management trusts the children to be at the Auditorium by 2 o'clock, so as not to miss a part of the performance.

WOULD ENJOIN INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, May 10.—On the ground of practical confiscation of property, an injunction restraining the interstate commerce commission from putting into effect on June 1 its order in the so-called Shreveport case, was asked today of the commerce court.

The applications were docketed in two cases, one filed by the Houston East and West Texas railway and the Houston and Shreveport railroad, the other by the Texas and Pacific railway.

In both applications it is alleged that the interstate commerce commission, in issuing its order requiring the railroads operating westwardly into Texas from Shreveport, La., to charge the same rates as contemporaneously in effect from Texas to Shreveport is in violation of the constitution and that the interstate commerce commission has no jurisdiction over rates entirely within one state.

The railroads urge in their application for injunction that it would cost them $500,000 a year to meet the requirements of the order.

FLEW FROM BUILDINGS

PLAQUEMINE, La., May 10.—A terrific wind, hail, rain and electrical storm caused hundreds of persons here tonight to flee from frame dwellings and seek shelter in brick or stone structures. Tonight every able-bodied man is on the levee fighting against a break, while the wind is blowing the flood-water over the embankment in sheets.

Two brick buildings that have stood just back of the levee were demolished by the storm, and many more were damaged. No loss of life has been reported. The "back" portion of the town is under from 16 inches to two feet of water. Water is rushing over the Plaquemine levee.

REFUGEES BOARD BUFORD

MAXATIAN, Mex., via Tucson, Ariz. May 10.—The transport Buford reached Altata today and took on board 19 Americans, who had been living near or in that city. Colonel Payson, commanding the Mexican federal forces at Culiacan, waived examination of the effects of the refugees at the port office.

He also allowed a special train to be run from Culiacan to Altata for the benefit of refugees. Colonel Payson also permitted the use of government boats to aid Americans, displaying the most friendly feeling toward foreigners.

The Buford, on leaving Altata, proceeded to Mazatlan to take on board any Americans who may desire to leave Mexico on account of the revolt. Henry Long, an American negro, who was captured while fighting with the rebels and imprisoned at Culiacan for three days, was released after an agreement had been made between the federal commandant at Mazatlan and the rebels. Long will be placed aboard the Buford.

ARRESTS BANK ROBBER

ROSWELL, N. M., May 10.—Deputy Sheriff J. L. Duncan of Roswell county, this morning turned over to officers from Cordell, Okla., Sam Harrison, the last of the participants in the bloody bank robbery at that place to be captured. Harrison was arrested at Painter without trouble, the sheriff taking no chances. Harrison was tied out with his long fight and made no effort to fight back. He will be taken to Oklahoma tomorrow morning.

WOULD HELP DENY TRADE

DENVER, May 10.—The mountain park scheme contemplates longer stays in Denver of thousands of tourists and eventually millions in money as the system of parks becomes known. It is the opinion of W. K. McAllister, general agent of the Southern Pacific in Denver, that the system of parks is a plan to attract tourists, which will be submitted to the people at the election, May 21.

"Nothing can be of greater value to a city than a scenic standpoint," said McAllister, "than beautiful parks. They will bring settlers as well as tourists, and give to the city and to the citizens."

ARCHBOLD MAKES DENIAL

Repudiates Some of Testimony He Gave on Wednesday Admits Signature, but Not Letter

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Edward J. Williams of Scranton, Pa., chief witness against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court, today practically denied before the house judiciary committee some of the testimony he had given against the judge on Wednesday.

Williams was a partner with Judge Archbald in negotiations for buying a culm bank from the Erie railroad to sell at a profit of $12,000 to the Jackson & Wyoming railroad. The judge at that time had the Erie's so-called lighting case in his court. A. S. Worthington, counsel for the accused jurist, undertook the reddest examination, and called his attention to the copy of an assignment of the culm bank property that he was alleged to have made to W. P. Boland and a "silent party." Previously, Williams admitted having made such an assignment before he procured options on the Erie culm banks, and had explained that the "silent party" was Judge Archbald. Today, however, upon reading a copy of the assignment, Williams said it was not the paper he had signed. He admitted that the signature attached was his, but repudiated its contents.

Admits He May Have Signed

This admission led Attorney Worthington to ask the witness if he ever drank. He said he did, and admitted it was possible he might have signed the papers that he could not now recall. Williams repudiated the letter introduced in evidence Wednesday, in which he related having told W. P. Boland that if he had discounted one of Judge Archbald's notes, a case he had before that jurist which was decided against him might have resulted differently. The witness admitted having said something like that to Boland, but he denied that the language used in the letter in evidence, signed by him, ever came from his lips.

It also developed on cross-examination that Judge Archbald paid Williams' fare from Scranton to Washington that the latter might respond to the subpoena from the judiciary committee to appear before it. The committee today started to learn of an alleged transaction between James R. Dainty, Judge Archbald and the Lehigh Valley railroad. It involved the Eberhart Coal property.

Thought Archbald Could Help

Williams was asked if he and Dainty did not regard Judge Archbald as the real negotiator for the lease of the Eberhart property by the Lehigh Valley.

"I thought Judge Archbald might be able to swing it," replied Williams. "I thought he could try it, anyhow."

Williams testified that he knew Thomas Darling, a lawyer from the Lehigh Valley. Chairman Clayton then read a photographic copy of a letter which introduced Williams to Darling. It stated that Mr. Williams was trying to get hold of culm dump property owned by the Lehigh Valley, if the railroad felt inclined to dispose of it. The letter was written on United States commerce court stationery.

"Why did you get a letter from Judge Archbald in that instance?" asked the chairman.

"I thought it might help me get the dump," Williams replied.

"Was the judge to have an interest in that?"

"No."

"Did you know the judge knew Darling?"

"Oh yes. Darling tried many cases before Judge Archbald. He tried cases before him when Mr. Archbald was county judge."

COMMUTES LIFE SENTENCE

State Board of Pardons Grants Leniency to Prisoner Who Was Convicted of Murder

DENVER, May 10.—The state board of pardons this afternoon commuted the sentence of E. B. Parrott from life to 22 years. Parrott was sentenced to the state penitentiary from Ouray in 1901 for murder. A month ago he went alone from a convict camp in northern Colorado to Denver to plead his case before the pardon board.

The board today denied an application for leniency of Daniel Reagan, sentenced from Denver for murder, and ordered the application of T. F. Tolison and Joseph Maddox stricken from the list when it was shown that the two had aided in sending an anonymous letter to the board in which it was declared Reagan is innocent.

P. A. Lilly, former county treasurer of San Miguel county who was sentenced six years ago to serve 35 years in the penitentiary on five different counts of embezzlement of county funds, was granted a commutation to 14 years.

Lilly will be freed in a year and Parrott in six months.

HELD AS WHITE SLAYER

SEATTLE, Wash., May 10.—Mrs. Florence Hazel Moore of Ouland, Cal., whose name was associated with that of ex-Adjutant General Otis Hamilton of the Washington national guard, when he was tried and convicted three years ago of embezzling from the state militia funds, was indicted on state counts by the federal grand jury today on charges of having violated the anti-white slave act. Mrs. Moore was arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

BATTLE NEWS INDEFINITE

JUAREZ, Mex., May 10.—No definite advances had reached here up to 10 o'clock tonight of the fighting between rebels and federals in the vicinity of Torreón. Rebel officials here were reticent to discuss the battle, and frequent rumors were that the rebels had met a reverse.

OUTLINE PROVISION

Every city which has adopted a charter, or shall vote to hold a charter convention, including the city and county of Denver, shall have exclusive power to manage, control and legislate concerning its local, special, municipal and governmental affairs, including the power to fix and change from time to time the jurisdiction, term of office, duties and qualifications of its officers and agents and to provide the manner and time of their elections or appointment, and to prescribe the time, manner and forms of nominations, elections and registrations and the appointment of election and registration officers, and to regulate and control in all particulars all city elections.

The violation of election provisions of any charter shall be considered criminal and punishable in accordance with the statutes of the state. Power is given to issue and refund all municipal obligations, including bonds of park, water and local improvement districts.

The method of consolidation of the park and water districts may be provided in charters upon a vote of a majority of the qualified electors voting upon the questions involved in the districts affected. Power to levy taxes and to provide for the assessment and collections of same for the purpose of defraying such expenses is granted either to city or county officials.

The charters of any cities adopted before the new amendment goes into effect and in accordance with it, are ratified and confirmed. All elections and other proceedings held under such charters, which are in conformity with the provisions of the proposed draft are validated, affirmed and ratified.

In view of the recent supreme court decision upholding state election laws, as supreme, attorneys of the three cities having charters declare that a constitutional amendment is needed to perpetuate charter or commission government in those cities in the state where it has been established, and to permit its establishment in Denver and elsewhere if voted for. The amendment as outlined above is proposed to take the place of Section 6 of the constitution, known as the Rush amendment. If acted upon favorably, Colorado cities and towns with a population of 2,000 or more may adopt charters embodying features of commission government.

Mr. Taft is a vote for the bosses, it is a vote for Lorimer, for Penrose, for Guggenheim, for Gallinger and for all the rest of them, and it is a vote for these men whether it is cast in Minnesota or in Massachusetts, or in Ohio or New Jersey or California.

"I became a candidate only when I became convinced that no other progressive candidate could by any possibility be nominated against Mr. Taft. The contest has gone so far as to make it now evident that I certainly can be nominated against Mr. Taft and that either I shall be nominated or else a reactionary will be nominated."

"It is also evident that not only every progressive Republican, but every man who believes in decency and honesty in politics, who is against the rule and for the genuine rule of the people and is for the elimination of special privileges and for efficient endeavor to secure social and industrial justice, can achieve his purposes only by supporting my candidacy."

"My personal interest is of no concern one way or the other but it happens that at this time I (uplift and embody the great cause which can only be furthered by supporting me. Almost everywhere where I have been asked to appear personally in this campaign and fight the bosses we have beaten them and I ask that Minnesota stand beside Oregon and Illinois, Pennsylvania and Nebraska, Maine, New York and Maryland in this fight."

START MOVEMENT TO GET USE RIO GRANDE WATER

State's Rights Advocates, in Resolution, Ask Governor Shafroth to Protest to President.

DENVER, May 10.—State's rights advocates today launched a movement whereby they hope to secure action by Congress permitting the use of water from the Rio Grande for irrigation purposes in southern Colorado. Resolutions adopted unanimously by the Denver chamber of commerce today set forth that the "interior department has denied applications for rights of way in the Rio Grande, and that the lands in southern Colorado upon the pretext that at some future time the water from the Rio Grande would be needed for the federal irrigation project at Engle, N. M."

It is claimed such denials contravene the desert land act which provides that "rights of way through the public lands and reservations of the United States are hereby granted for purposes of irrigation."

The resolutions are to be forwarded to Senator Guggenheim and Colorado's representatives in the lower house. Gov. John F. Shafroth is asked to protest to the President of the United States against "the illegal and oppressive action of the interior department" and, in the event redress cannot be secured promptly, the state of Colorado is asked to start court proceedings to deny the citizens of Colorado rights of way over public lands near the headwaters of the Rio Grande.

All commercial organizations in Colorado are asked to join in the movement.

B. B. LINDSEY

explained the mother's impression that this is a law providing that the state must pay helpless mothers to stay at home and take care of their children instead of taking the children away from them as under the present law, said Judge Lindsey and it is meeting with the bitter opposition of the corrupt influences and privileged business interests of Denver who are threatening to turn the fight against it throughout the entire state. It is the first step towards abolishing the present system of punishing mothers for leaving children for the state. Under our present laws a mother is fined and actually tear the child away from the bosom of the family. There has been a time and again. Agents of private charities, working money from the state and enjoying governmental powers, though their efforts are not elected by the people or subject to the recall are better fighting this measure. It is in line with the fight against the child labor law and other laws that propose a fundamental change in favor of justice as against spectacular charity.

"Under this law an allowance of about $5 a family is made, and it is easy to see that this is much cheaper than the old law which places children in a state institution at an approximate cost of $18 per child. The proposed amendment also is guarded by the county commissioners who pay the allowance and who can withhold it if they see fit. As a result, we secure who are convicted of non-support also are proposed in the amendment."

Home Rule of Schools

The home rule of schools was the next measure taken up by Judge Lindsey. This is an amendment to Article 20 of the constitution, giving people in cities of the first and second class home rule in matters of school government. As it is now, the schools are

The banquet was held in the church and presided over by Overseer Daniel Bryant, the independent leader. Emphatic on several occasions engaged in brawls with the followers of Voliva because of the use of tobacco, were given a hearty welcome at the meeting.

The banquet opened with "rag time" music and an innovation which was not appreciated by the Volivans. Politicians of Voliva watched during the evening to see if cigars were passed. Men in favor of a more liberal city were speakers.

At The Theater

ALICE LLOYD IS NOT SUPERSTITIOUS TO BE SEEN HERE TOMORROW

"No I'm not superstitious" twinkled charming Alice Lloyd in the course of a conversation and who is to appear at the opera house tonight in "Little Miss Fix-it," but I wouldn't go on without wearing my wish bone ring. You see it is almost the only piece of jewelry I wear, and it was given to me in Johannesburg, South Africa, for luck. That is almost my only superstition but of course, I have to have my little black pig on my dressing table.

"To be sure, his front legs are gone, but I would have him if only the tail were left, because an old Irish woman gave him to me when I was sailing for America the first time. The gang plank was about to be taken in when she threw this little pig with good luck to me always, darlin'. That's why I have my pig."

See those two little flags the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack? They were sent to me on a big bouquet the first week I was in New York by some passengers I had crossed with on the Oceanic. I always put them on either side of my mirror with my gollywog in the center.

WAWLEY PLAYERS IN "MARY JANE'S PA" MONDAY NIGHT

Commencing Monday May 13, James Hawley and Players will open the summer stock season at the Opera house in "Mary Jane's Pa." Henry Dixey's and Max Wiggs' late success, a comedy built around one of the prettiest stories ever told in drama.

In offering "Mary Jane's Pa" as the opening attraction, the theatergoing public will see Mr. Hawley in a part most fitted to his line of work. The character of "pa" is by all means one of the best starring roles Mr. Hawley has been seen in here and, without doubt, Mr. Hawley will equal this well-known artist's work in the part. Many summer stock companies are producing this comedy drama as their opening attraction.

A higher-class organization of players has not been offered for the summer stock season at the Opera house than the Hawley Players. The play will be changed weekly. Matinee days, Wednesday and Saturday. Popular prices will prevail—10c, 25c, 35c and 50c. Seats can be reserved by the season at the box office. Phone Main 720.

The second week, "Going Some" will be presented.

"LON"OWE MISS WIGG" AL MAJESTIC

Krautmeyer is a respectable German widower, who finds himself temporarily but seriously embarrassed. Just before leaving his office for the day, he receives word from a firm of attorneys that unless a sum of $5,000—long overdue—is paid within 48 hours, they will attach his property. In despair, the little German wanders his way homeward, where he is greeted by his mother-in-law and his two children.

While looking over an evening paper, he comes across an advertisement wherein a young and beautiful lady advertises for a husband, stating that the lucky man is to receive a gift of $5,000 from her on the day of the wedding. Krautmeyer sees his chance and decides to pose as a French count. The lady sends him her photograph and he is in ecstasy over her beauty.

While on his way to meet his wife-to-be, he is waylaid by three tramps who discover his plans, and one is appointed to impersonate Krautmeyer. Krautmeyer's mother-in-law, meanwhile, suspects the cause of his absence, and finds the newspaper clipping which tells of his plan. She follows him and arrives just as Krautmeyer meets Miss Wiggs. He, too, is appointed by her appearance, and tries to retreat, but is stopped by the tramps, who are on the scene. Miss Wiggs has given the German the $5,000, which the tramps stole, and when the mother-in-law demands that he leave with her, Miss Wiggs demands her money. Her Krautmeyer gets out of this predicament in a convincingly revealed at the finale of the picture.

On the same reel—what's the use of telling you. It's a beautiful subject, and we know you'll like it. They're all good, says Mike, but what's it about. Come and see, also listen to the music of the band, and the price is 5 cents.

It would surprise you to know of the latest good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, Newberg Junction, N. B., writes, "My wife has been using Chamberlain's Tablets and finds them very effective and doing her lots of good." If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial. For sale by all druggists.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of people need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this time and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general tendency is toward worn-out feeling, poor appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system becomes so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off the summer heat, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a combination of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted to a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rides the system in of that tired, worn-out feeling, and brings vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and rebuilds the blood, stimulates the moribund and ailing system to battle action, quells the over-activity, and brings the system back to its normal state.

WASHINGTON TODAY ON BEHALF OF LAND BILL

Mayor Avery leaves for Washington this morning on behalf of the Colorado Springs-Manitou land bill, which, it is expected, will be acted upon by the senate committee next Wednesday. The mayor's trip at this time is due largely to a telegram received by Col. E. T. Ensign from the surveyor general at Washington, asking for a copy of the old Jackson franchise under which the Hydro-Electric company operates, since which covers the right of the franchise company to take power from the city's supply for power purposes. The only protest now on file in Washington against the passage of the land bill is from the town of Victor. They declared yesterday that the reason for the telegram to Colonel Ensign is unknown, but it is admitted that the message relative to the Hydro-Electric rights in the premises was unexpected. Whether the Hydro-Electric franchise will be used as an argument against the passage of the bill is not known here. Colonel Ensign said yesterday that he knows of no reason why his name was given to the surveyor general in this connection, or why a telegram concerning the matter was sent to him.

Mayor Avery yesterday received a letter from Senator Guggenheim to the effect that the public lands committee of the senate has referred the Colorado Springs bill for investigation to a subcommittee composed of Senator Hayden of Idaho, Senator Jones of Washington, and Senator Smith of Arizona, with instructions to report to the senate committee next Wednesday. It is expected that the report of the subcommittee will govern the recommendations of the senate committee, and that if it is favorable to the measure, the bill will pass without further delay.

In view of this new turn, and also because of the fact that the Hydro franchise has become a part of the data being looked into in Washington, it was considered important by the commissioners yesterday that the mayor be sent to Washington at once to look after the city's side of the arguments.

Mayor Avery expects to reach Washington Monday and to secure a conference with the subcommittee of three before its report on the bill is made to the senate committee.

DIETRICH'S ORCHESTRA RECEIVES HIGH PRAISE

By ALBERT C. PEARSON.
Love for orchestral music is growing in our city. No one who has attended the concerts by home orchestras the last winter and witnessed the enthusiasm of the audience can doubt it.

The concert given last night by Mr. Edwin Dietrich and his pupils proved that they, too, have their place in the musical life of the town. The orchestra numbers 47. An unusual interest attaches to the personnel because of the large number of blind players in it.

Mr. Dietrich has a firm, virile tone himself, and has imparted it in large degree to his pupils. Then the interpretation was so good; there was so much life, snap and vigor in the performance that one forgot that they were "just amateurs" and had a good time. "At least, that was my experience."

The solos by Miss Esther Woodman, Harry Greenberg, Leslie Blades, Alfred Kioes, Miss Lucille Peltz, Fred Funk and Roland Farley were given exceptionally well, and Miss Funk, Greenberg and Funk booked themselves as soloists of the musical club by their work. They won't know it till they see this, but that's what has happened.

Another thing—watch Leslie Blades. He is blind, but he has a voice and a wit that does things. He aims to be a real singer, and I believe he will arrive.

Mr. Dietrich is certainly to be congratulated on his success.

PROF. HART WRITES ON ROOSEVELT IN COLLIER'S WEEKLY

Under the title, "Theodore Roosevelt as a Westerner," Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, Harvard exchange professor at Colorado college, contributes an article to the current number of Collier's that is an appreciation of the true western spirit which finds a notable embodiment in the great Progressive leader.

Mr. Hart, who is professor of government at Harvard, is a delegate-at-large from Massachusetts to the Republican national convention. The Collier's article, which occupies a full page, is illustrated with two drawings by Philip R. Goodwin. The pictures that the make up character and temperament of Roosevelt in "in most that seem to make up character and temperament of a western man." Professor Hart declares that Roosevelt's years of residence in the west and his knowledge of the west gained through thousands of miles of travel on specklebacking trips qualify him for the title, while his very habits of thought and the qualities which have brought him to his present position of prominence are those which are most often alluded to as "western traits."

First among these is the habit of open and fearless speech, which Professor Hart says, "appeals to the west."

Direct and candid. "No man in America is more direct outspoken and candid," the article continues. "His whole habit of mind is to suppose that what he thinks on public questions is sincere and may be revealed. Hence the cool way in which the people of the west have swept aside the charges that he had been playing a crooked and deceptive game with reference to the presidential nomination. It took him a long time to make up his mind to shirk his hat into the ring, there has been a time when he did not expect to do so, but he has accepted the idea that there is a demand for him, and there certainly is in Illinois, Nebraska, Oregon and Pennsylvania, and wherever the issue is Roosevelt or Taft."

"He has also said that he thinks there is a demand for him and in the only opportunities so far afforded for the count of noses of actual Republican voters, his belief has been justified. The picture of Theodore Roosevelt as a gloomy and disappointed politician, covering in the caves of Victor Bay, admitting masked conspirators at 3 a. m., and teaching them to write 'Teddy' all over the dead walls is ludicrous to those who know the man. The worst enemy of Theodore Roosevelt cannot truthfully say that he is a concealer of his thoughts."

Thinks Quickly—Not Impulsive. His broad and generous liking for people is another trait that makes him as a western man, and still another western quality, according to Professor Hart is his love of motion and for that matter of commotion. "This western foot-loose habit," he says, "takes great life in the dauntless spirit of the colonel. The Rooseveltian habit of making up his mind at short range is recognized by Professor Hart as a western quality. This habit, which leads many to think him impulsive, gives him a quite undeserved reputation."

"No man is less impulsive in the sense of making up his mind in advance of the study of actual facts and conditions, and no man is more willing to heat consider and adapt what comes to him from others' save the writer."

Another trait which he says is rather western than eastern, is to seek information in great quantities and from every possible quarter. He says that even his mind is a great reservoir, which he constantly filling up from every basin of human knowledge. It is the power to draw upon that reservoir in which have accumulated the thoughts of his countrymen, which makes him the statesman of the hour.

The article concludes with the statement that the reason why Roosevelt is so popular in the west and could probably carry every western state in open statewide primaries is because he has the true spirit of the west, which Dr. Hart succinctly defines as "enthusiasm, belief in one's friends, enjoyment of the whole community and interest in the whole public welfare."

Circus Here Today: All Reports Praise Highly

"A circus without sawdust or red lemonade may be credited with being a novelty so thoroughly are these two ingredients a part of the typical American show is the comment of the Waco Tex. Times-Herald on Campbell Bros' big circus which appears here this afternoon and evening. The Texas paper goes on to say:

"At Campbell Bros' show, which appears in Waco afternoon and evening today the peanuts were washed down with lemonade that was commonplace in its natural color, while the two rings and the arena were carpeted with Texas grass wearing its luster colors of bright spring green. In these two particulars only did the show differ materially from most other circuses.

"There is no reason why the tent performers should differ, in its general amusement menu, from other shows of its kind. The public have a good idea of what they are going to see and they go for the fun of it, even on even through the famous after-piece of the concert and then pause for a last look at the half-hour boys who are working off orators of various kinds before the slideshows on trances—talking for the few who still craving excitement of the circus band may be induced to drop in for the final performance before the horse caravanserai where the circus art is working about getting the first section loaded.

"Campbell Bros' therefore following the usual lines—with the exception of the color of the lemonade and the lining of sawdust—is noted for the usual street parade. Inside the big top at the performances the band played music ranging from rattle to operatic selections according to the

acts that were in evidence, while there were the usual acrobatic stunts, trapeze artists, contortionists—some exceptionally clever ones, too—tight and slack wire artists, ground and lofty tumblers, equestrian stunts, performing elephants and ponies—in short the usual conglomeration, not forgetting the clowns, especially the rube who entered with the regular spectators.

And the audience applauded and cheered peanuts and ice cream cones. There are perhaps three acts that deserve more than passing mention with the show. First of these is Lashier, a strong man. He gets away from the usual strong man stuff altogether. Taking two horseshoes and holding them so they form a handle on each side of him he lets a string of 20 men on each side attempt to pull them apart. The 40 strong arms, some big huskies among them, too, did their best but they could not force him to break his grip. Then he gripped two iron rings, chains from which lead to two teams of big horses. Each team was whipped up and led in an opposite direction but as the rings swayed him up and down the arena the rings could not be pulled from his hands.

A series of plastic poses representing famous pieces of sculpture by a troupe of women was in artist feature that won applause.

Then there were the juggling elephants that walked without any great persuasion from their trainer and that did some stunts that were quite unique. The trainer evidently knows his business pretty well for he allowed them to do an unusual number of stunts that were attended with a little risk to the man himself. At any rate they appeared risk to the lady and that is a circus sufficient.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts freely at each application. For sale by all dealers.

A. B. HART

understand the ballot. The board of election commissioners, which does not appear to be controlled by either party to the controversy has refused to allow any of the ballots with nine crosses to be counted and it does not yet appear that mistakes of that kind are sufficient in number to show that the electors meant to choose Taft delegates.

Taft Men's Explanation.

The other explanation is that the majority of the voters wanted Taft to get the eight general electors, but on the other hand, wanted to plan the state organization, and voted under the idea that they could accomplish their purpose by choosing the Roosevelt delegates while instructing for Taft.

Colonel Roosevelt took the view that the preferential vote for Taft showed the intention of the voters that the delegates-at-large should be in the column, and telegraphed to each of the eight delegates that he expected him to vote for Taft in the convention. No concerted action has been taken by the eight delegates, though some of them have declared that they were elected as Roosevelt men, and would vote in no other way. It seems likely that the delegation will wait till the votes have so far been examined as to show more clearly what the intention of the voters was, and that they will govern themselves accordingly.

There remains, however, the very serious question of what is meant by instructions in a preferential primary, in case the delegates become satisfied after one or more ballots that the candidate for whom they are instructed cannot be nominated. In some states the law expressly authorizes delegates to abandon their candidate when they think his cause is hopeless. In Massachusetts there is no provision on that subject but it must be supposed that the delegates will do exactly as delegations chosen by state or county conventions do under like circumstances—that is, will take part in the nomination of a candidate who can be elected. The Massachusetts delegates-at-large are clearly under no obligation, legal or moral to stand to the end in a hopeless minority.

Under Hank O'Day the Reds Play Great Ball

Club Has Good Hitters but Lacks
High-Class Pitchers

CINCINNATI, May 10.—Under Manager O'Day's leadership the Reds have been playing fine ball and showing the real class which was in them last season, but was not brought out. The team has been playing the best ball of any club in the league, and there is no reason for thinking that this band will not be continued.

If the club had two more really first-class pitchers, or perhaps only one more, it would be strong enough to make a bid for the highest honors. The hitting staff is going along fully as well as was expected, but all must admit that the class is not there as it exists on several other clubs. Manager O'Day was rather unfortunate in not finding a real star among the young pitchers who were picked up from the minors. It is impossible to secure a pitcher who has shown great ability with some other major league club, for each club is looking for just that kind of men, and will not let one go when it secures him.

The only way to get a good pitcher is to be lucky enough to pick him up among the numerous minor leaguers that are tried out every spring. This is a matter of luck more than anything else. Nine-tenths of the scouts who tour the country at the expense of the major league teams do not know a good pitcher when they see one. They have no sense of perspective or proportion and sign men simply on the showing that they are making wherever they happen to be.

If scouts really understood their business they could tell, after watching a young pitcher work in several games whether he had a chance to make good or not. But nearly all of these alleged experts have no ability in judging players and have no sense of proportion. They are following their records, and what they hear about them around the hotel lobbies and cigar stores. Consequently

TERRORS IN PUEBLO TO-PLAY CENTENNIAL

The Terrors journey to Pueblo today to clash with the strong Centennial team of that city. This contest will be the last of the out-of-town games for the Terrors, and Coach Stewart is anxious that the team lands the long end of the score. Centennial has it on the Springs team, for the Terrors have been handicapped for the last week with a string of injuries, which will prevent some of the star players from entering the game in the heat of condition.

The Terrors probably will lineup as follows: Fowler, 2b; Evans, p; Jacobs, rf; Johns, c; Bruce, 1b; McCroft, lf; Thibault, cf; Vaughn, Schneider, 2b; Davis, ss.

AD READY FOR FRAY; WILL BE BUSY TILL CHRISTMAS

By H. M. WALKER.
LOS ANGELES, May 10.—After seven days spent on the manzanita lined trails back of Wheeler Springs, Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast has returned to the city with a scrubby chin and the information confidently imparted that he is in as good physical condition as before his unpleasant hospital experience.

If the operation for appendicitis weakened me any I have been unable to find the soft spot, says the Cadillac boy. "I duplicated the same climbing and walking stunts that I performed while training in these same regions for Owen Moran and finished strong. I am perfectly satisfied with myself and am ready to get back to the old grind again."

According to Wolgast's present plans the champion will be kept busy from now on until the Christmas holidays.

He is now in San Francisco to start training for his scheduled four-round bout with Willie Ritchie in that city on Saturday, May 11. He is training out at the Seal Rocks resort.

After the Ritchie bout, Ad travels to New York. Where, he states, he is billed to box a short go with Leach Cross. Of this affair Wolgast grins and makes the following comment:

"I'll stop Cross if necessary. By that I mean that if he gets any I'll have to drop him in self defense. If he goes along nice and easy like I'll only mace him up a bit."

SPEAKER'S HAT IN RING.

"Tis" Speaker has thrown his hat into the ring for the batting championship of the American league. "Ty" Cobb of Detroit and "Joe" Jackson of Cleveland have been hugging an opinion that the batting honors of the organization should be the personal property of one of them next October.

Speaker says that "he has got to show him. Recently he only made three hits in five times at bat against Vaughn, made two luscious catches in the outfield struck out once and laughed himself hoarse when he deliberately poked a bat at Vaughn's head. Fun enough for one afternoon.

Circus Here Today: All Reports Praise Highly

"A circus without sandust or red lemonade may be credited with being a novelty, so thoroughly are those two ingredients a part of the typical American show," is the comment of the Waco, Tex., Times-Herald on Campbell Bros' big circus which appears here this afternoon and evening. The Texas paper goes on to say:

"At Campbell Bros. show, which appears in Waco afternoon and evening today the peanuts were washed down with lemonade that was commonplace in its natural color, while the two rings and the arena were carpeted with Texas grass wearing its bluish colors of bright spring green. In these two particulars only did the show differ materially from most other circuses."

"There is no reason why the true performance should differ in its general amusement menu from other shows of its kind. The public have a good idea of what they are going to see and they go for the fun of it, stay on even through the famous after piece, the concert and then pause for a last look at the ballroom boys who are working off orders of various kinds before the slideshows, entrances—talking for the few who still craving excitement of the circus band may be induced to drop in for the final performance before the horse racesman wants the crowd and is worrying about getting the first section loaded."

"Campbell Bros. therefore following the usual lines—with the exception of the color of the lemonade and the lack of sandust—is noted for the usual street parade. Inside the big top at the performance the band played music ranging from ragtime to operatic selections, according to the

acts that were in evidence while there were the usual acrobatic stunts, trapeze artists, contortionists—some exceptionally clever ones, too—tight and slack wire artists, ground and lofty tumblers, equestrian stunts, performing elephants and ponies—in short the usual conglomeration, not forgetting the clowns especially the 'rube' who entered with the regular spectators.

And the audience applauded and cheered peanuts and ice cream cones.

"There are perhaps three acts that deserve more than passing mention with the show. First of these is Lav-shier a strong man. He gets away from a strong man he stuffs altogether. Taking two horseshoes and holding them so they form a handle on each side of him he lets a string of 20 men on each side attempt to pull them apart. The 40 strong arms—some big business among them too—did their best but they could not force him to break his grip. Then he gulped two iron rings, chains from which lead to two teams of big horses. Each team was whipped up by a man in an opposite direction but while they swayed him up and down the arena the rings could not be pulled from his hands.

A series of plastic poses representing famous pieces of sculpture by a troupe of women was in artistic feature that won applause.

Then there were the tight ring elephants that worked without any great persuasion from their trainer and that did some stunts that were quite unique. The trainer evidently knows his herd pretty well for he allowed them to do an unusual number of stunts that were attended with a little risk to the man himself. At any rate they appeared risky to the fairly and that is a circus sufferer.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts freely at each application. Price by all dealers.

understand the ballot. The board of election commissioners, which did not appear to be controlled by either party to the controversy, has refused to allow any of the ballots with nine crosses to be counted, and it does not yet appear that mistakes of that kind are sufficient in number to show that the electors meant to choose Taft delegates.

Taft Men's Explanation.

The other explanation is that the majority of the voters wanted Taft to get the eight general electors, but on the other hand, wanted to stain the state organization, and voted under the idea that they could accomplish their purpose by choosing the Roosevelt delegates while instructing for Taft.

Colonel Roosevelt took the view that the preferential vote for Taft showed the intention of the voters that the delegates should be chosen by the eight delegates that he expected him to vote for Taft in the convention. No concerted action has been taken by the eight delegates, though some of them have declared that they would elect as Roosevelt men and could vote in no other way. It seems likely that the delegation will wait till the votes have so far been examined as to show more clearly what the intention of the voters was, and that they will govern themselves accordingly.

There remains, however, the very serious question of what is meant by instructions in a preferential primary. In case the delegates become satisfied after one or more ballots that the candidate for whom they are instructed cannot be nominated in some states the law expressly authorizes delegates to abandon their candidate when they think his cause is hopeless. In Massachusetts there is no provision on that subject, but it must be supposed that the delegates will do exactly as delegations chosen by state or county conventions do under like circumstances—that is, will take part in the nomination of a candidate who can be elected. The Massachusetts delegates-at-large are clearly under no obligation, legal or moral, to stand to the end in a hopeless minority.

THE HIGH SCHOOL QUESTION

THE well-meaning but misguided citizens who are agitating the building of a high school on the West Side seem to have overlooked the fact that the School Board has already invested approximately $45,000 in a building site across Cheyenne Avenue from the present high school building. Do the people engaged in this movement really believe that the School Board, representing the taxpayers, can abandon the present plan and spend additional thousands for the purchase of still another building site and the construction of another high school on the West Side in obedience to the demand of a very small majority?

The triangle immediately west of the present high school was selected largely because of its central location. It can be reached by most of the pupils with a minimum expenditure of time, trouble and expense. But the really important consideration is economy of administration. A saving estimated by the School Board at $15,000 a year can be effected by operating the entire high school system at one plant, and it should not be very hard for the taxpayers of Colorado Springs to decide whether or not they care to make this saving.

Every consideration of economy and efficiency requires the building of the new high school on the site already purchased by the Board of Education. And these are the considerations which must inevitably determine the question.

SAFETY ON THE SEA

THE investigation of the Titanic disaster conducted by a Committee of the Senate is at an end, and another investigation has been started in England. Presumably the English inquiry will be more thorough and more effective. The well-meant efforts of the land-lubbers Mr. Smith, chairman of the Senate Committee, were productive more of diversion both at home and abroad than of more substantial results. Senator Smith was so innocent of nautical knowledge that he questionlessly asked the captain of the Carpathia whether his reference to the position of the ship in a certain degree of latitude was north or south, apparently assuming that the Carpathia might have been somewhere midway between the Equator and the South Pole when it rescued the survivors of the Titanic in the neighborhood of Newfoundland.

It is true that there is no precedent for this investigation of a disaster to a foreign vessel outside American waters. It was conducted only because of the circumstance that of the 1,700 people who lost their lives on the Titanic a very large number were Americans. Although the White Star Line is legally a British corporation it is really owned chiefly in this country, being a subsidiary corporation of the International Mercantile Marine Company, otherwise known as the Morgan Steamship Merger. Additional reasons for the investigation lay in the fact that it afforded the best opportunity for examining the actual witnesses of the catastrophe before they were scattered throughout this country and Europe.

But the more important question is, what is to be the actual result? What legislation, if any, is to be enacted in the United States and England to guard against a repetition of another such disaster as befell the passengers of the Titanic? Everybody knows what vigorous efforts have been made after every great catastrophe to safeguard human life. Immediately after the Iroquois Theater fire in Chicago managers of theaters everywhere in the country voluntarily cut additional exits and otherwise provided for the safety of their patrons. But how many of them are doing it now, except when compelled to do so by rigorously enforced laws?

The burning of the excursion boat General Slocum in New York harbor cost the lives of about 1,000 children, and taught the lesson of the absolute necessity for providing a full supply of life-preservers on such craft. Immediately every other excursion boat advertised that it had more than enough life-preservers for all of its passengers. But that was nearly ten years ago, and it would be interesting to know whether they are still doing it.

A public school building in Collinwood, a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio, burned a few years ago with an appalling loss of life because the fire exits were barred on the outside. The next day Boards of Education throughout the country hustled vigorously to make sure that their fire escapes were in good working order. But how many of them have forgotten the Collinwood holocaust since then?

We live in a hustling age. The march of events is so rapid that we forget the absorbing news of today in a contemplation of the events of tomorrow, and even such an epochal disaster as the loss of the Titanic soon becomes ancient history. Only about three weeks ago the latest and biggest ocean leviathan went to the bottom of the Atlantic with 1,700 human souls aboard, but already the event has taken its place in the record of the things that were, and has been half forgotten by the public.

Following the example of the theater managers after the Iroquois fire, the excursion boat managers after the General Slocum fire, and the school boards after the Collinwood fire, the steamship companies are loading every outward-bound liner with a full supply of lifeboats. But how long will they continue to do this voluntarily after the public has actually forgotten the Titanic disaster? And what are the American and British governments going to do to make sure that some means of escape from a sinking vessel is provided hereafter?

Tender tributes to the Titanic's dead are all very well in their way, but whole volumes of them are of small importance as against a Federal statute ten lines long which will actually compel steamship companies to carry enough lifeboats to provide for the escape of every passenger and every member of the crew.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

MR. SCHREIBER'S VIEWS.

To the Editor of The Gazette
 I desire to express to you, and through your columns to the people of this community, my sincere regret at the uncalculated, and most unfortunate article in your paper this morning concerning the Young Men's Republican club. It is uncalculated for at this time when every well-informed person knows that I, with all other good Republicans, have been earnestly endeavoring to promote peace and harmony in the party. Unintended however the facts are distorted and the truth is varied, and unfortunately because it may injure a worthy movement which promises to be a potent factor for the good of the Republican party in the coming campaign. It seems to have been inspired by some one or more persons who appear to think their own imaginary grievances against me and my friends are of greater consequence than the welfare or the success of the Republican party and for that reason are ready to sacrifice the interests of the party in order to gratify their own personal ends. Knowing your sense of fairness and justice, I am sure you could not knowingly permit your paper to be used for such a purpose, and would not knowingly publish false statements. The article is a perversion of the truth from beginning to end. I shall point out only a few misstatements.

1st. They say that the Stephen Jackson-Benedict club was the first club formed in Colorado City and that the Taft club was formed afterwards. This is not true and every one of them knows it. The Taft club was formed and its list of membership published weeks before the Stephen club was formed. It has a membership of about 200, mostly business men of Colorado City, and it has not been merged into the Young Men's club, nor has it a merger been suggested or contemplated. On the contrary, the Stephen club was formed long after the Taft club and was formed under the guise of the strong Roosevelt sentiment in that city for the purpose of preventing me and my friends from going to the county convention.

2nd. The Stephen club did not defeat the Taft club in the primaries, as they would have you believe. The Taft club elected six and the Roosevelt club nine delegates from Colorado City, and this in the face of a Roosevelt sentiment in Colorado City of two to one against us. The Stephen club put a straight Roosevelt delegation (except one delegate) two weeks before the primaries, and Mr. Stephen would not listen to any compromise because he thought the Roosevelt sentiment was strong enough to carry him through to victory.

3rd. He openly boasted that he had us beat ten to one and even Mr. P. B. Stewart, the leader of the Roosevelt forces, could not induce Mr. Stephen to respect the agreement made by him on the one side and the county central committee on the other to avoid precinct contests and to divide the delegations. Mr. Stephen provoked the contest and it was only at the last moment that we decided to put up a centrist delegation, even though it meant certain defeat rather than even our self-respect. We put our workers in the field at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon of the day of the primaries and when the vote was counted in precinct 5, where Mr. Stephen and I both live it stood 56 for Taft and 111 for Roosevelt delegations. If he can extract any comfort out of that sort of a victory under the circumstances, after working two weeks before the day of the primaries, I am willing he shall have it.

4th. They say the speakers at the banquet to-night are all Taft men. This is not true as anyone who is familiar with the politics of this county knows. The majority of the speakers are Roosevelt men.

5th. I deny that I had anything to do with the formation of the Young Men's club, and knew nothing of it until the young men had it well under way. I then advised against it, and only gave my approval when I was assured that it would be absolutely free from faction and would limit the age of active membership to 35 years.

In conclusion, let me say that the success of this club is assured through the enthusiastic energy and activity of its young promoters in spite of such "knocks" as Stephen, Jackson and Benedict. I believe the club has what its name implies, a young men's club. Its object is harmony in the party and its efforts will be directed to the election of the entire Republican ticket in November. Any man under the age of 35 years (I am over that age) is eligible—whether he belongs to any other club or not. Efforts as county chairman, have been and will continue to be, exerted for peace and harmony within our own party in spite of misrepresentation. I place the welfare of the party above my own personal feelings, and I think any man who is not big enough to do that is an enemy to the party, no matter how loud his protestations to the contrary may be.

I abhor newspaper controversies and shall, therefore, pay no further attention to anything which may be published on this subject.
 F. F. SCHREIBER,
 Chairman, Republican County Central Committee,
 Colorado Springs, May 10.

Center shots

By ED HOWE.

Every time I see the husband of a noted woman, I remark something that makes me think he doesn't like his wife.

If a widower gets along well after his bereavement, he should be ashamed to show it.

It is no disgrace to be poor; but we are all sensitive about it.

Somehow it always seems disgraceful to see a horse hitched up with a mule.

After a woman has been married three or four years, she begins saying of her husband: "He used to wait on me, but now, half the time he doesn't know I'm on earth."

When a married woman starts in to become stouter, her husband usually starts in to shrivel up.

Those of us who are not called upon to drown to prove our gallantry, are very proud of the way the men acted when the "Titanic" was wrecked at sea.

A man who lives by politics can't understand why you don't take more interest in the primaries; and a bishop gives you rather more difficult tasks than you think necessary.

Probably no row is quite so red hot as that which gets two people into the divorce court.

Women have wrongs, as all the world knows, but if you want to know just how ruthless and terrible wrongs really are, ask a man to read off his list.

The Thankless Job

By WALT MASON.

There's nothing but tears for the man who steers our ship over the troubled sea, there's nothing but grief for the nation's chief, whoever that chief may be. Whatever he does, he can hear the buzz of critics as thick as flies, and all of his aims are sins and anathemas, and nothing he does is wise. There's nothing but kicks for the man who sticks four years to the White House chair, and his stout heart aches and his wishbone breaks and he loses most of his hair. There's nothing but the spiteful slings and stings, and the vile cat-calls and the dish of prunes and a chorus of tinkers' anathemas. Oh, we humble skates in our low estates, who fuss with our garden sassa, should view the woes of the men who rose above and beyond the mass, and be glad today that we go our way mild, quiet and peaceful, and should thankfully take the line and take, and wiggle with spurs and greens.

Love Marriages and the Other Kind

By RUTH CAMERON.

The talk ran on loveless marriages. The Enthusiastic Young Person was bitterly condemning marriage without love as a sin against one's self and society, and a sin sure to bring its punishment of unhappiness.

And then the Man of Many Travels told this story.

Six years ago, when I was selling in France I was entertained by one of my customers at a pension in a suburb of the city.

The pension was built about a courtyard (our apartments were on the second floor) and had a little balcony upon which I used to sit of an evening watching the people in the courtyard.

One among them in whom I took an especial interest was a pretty young girl who, instead of talking and laughing with the other young people, continually sat by herself and moped. I asked my host about her and he told me that she had fallen desperately in love with a young military officer and that her people would not hear of the match because they had already planned her betrothal to a man some ten years older than she and of extremely good prospects.

"Of course I railed bitterly at this example of the abominable French custom of marrying girls against their will, and being a good deal younger and even more foolish than I am now, conceived some insane idea of assisting at an elopement."

"Fortunately my business interests called me away before I had a chance to make seventy different kinds of a fool of myself."

"Last year I was again in Paris and was again entertained by my hospitable customer. We went out on the balcony and directly beneath us I observed a plump and charming young matron making a most delightful picture as she romped and laughed with her two babies."

"My host, seeing my interest, asked me if I recognized her."

"I said that I had never seen her before."

"Oh, but you have," he assured me. "That is that Madeleine C. about whose name and case you were so much wrought up when you were last here."

"So they let her marry the young man of her choice after all," I rejoiced. "Good enough."

"But, no," my friend corrected me, "she married that most detestable party her wise parents had selected as the man most fitted to make her happy and to carry on their line."

"But she looks happy!"

"But she is. Most thoroughly so. She adores her children as you see, but not more so than her husband. They are a most devoted couple, an object lesson to all the married people in the pension—ah, there he comes now."

"A prosperous and kindly looking man advanced toward the group. The babies rushed to greet him. The wife followed with a sweetly man of her choice and gave and received a most affectionate greeting. They sat down together, talking eagerly, as two people who meet after a long absence."

TRAINING A HUSBAND

(Copyright, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey)

It is the plea of the majority of fun-loving young girls that they want to have amusement while single. Of course, we hear all about how girls who are intending to marry take lessons in economy, and all that, but why should a girl bother about all these things before she weds. She has time enough afterward.

All such young women forget how wrong it is to experiment in house-keeping at the expense of the husband, whom they have wedded. Every young man has a right to expect that his wife is well up in these matters, and that she needs no coaching upon such important affairs.

It isn't every girl who weds who is capable of making the best kind of a wife at the start. Most of them have it all to learn afterward. Those lessons in domestic science cost a pretty penny. Even the rich young fellow should fight shy of marrying a girl who knows nothing of domestic duties whatever. For there's such a thing as being rich today and poor tomorrow in this changeable world of ours. Young couples soon find that Cupid looks at his love for me as dead. He tells me that I ought to go back to my mother. Of course, such talk usually ends up in a quarrel. He says I am using him and his pocketbook to experiment on in housekeeping. A friend of mine got her aunt to come in and teach her how to keep house. Her husband was always grumbling about her expense list and to bear little complaining how valuable she was to his comfort. Please tell me what course to pursue.

A girl of this sort sums up the situation as follows: "Dear Miss Libbey, I am a bride of six months, and most unhappy. My husband roasts me continually because I do not know how to cook and keep scorching foods. I did not know but what I could learn to do all this after marriage without his knowing it. We have commenced our married life so stormily that I am sure all his love for me is dead. He tells me that I ought to go back to my mother. Of course, such talk usually ends up in a quarrel. He says I am using him and his pocketbook to experiment on in housekeeping. A friend of mine got her aunt to come in and teach her how to keep house. Her husband was always grumbling about her expense list and to bear little complaining how valuable she was to his comfort. Please tell me what course to pursue."

"DEAR MISS LIBBEY: I would get a cook book and persevere until I conquered cooking and all the details of housekeeping. That will bring you love and an appreciation."

ANSWERS

HER BROTHER DRINKS.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl and the only family income. I have a mother two smaller sisters and one brother. My brother can never hold a job as he is a drunkard. It hurts me so to see my brother drunk and I worry over it a lot. I feel that I am losing health and energy and have decided that either brother or I must leave the house. I suggested this to my mother and she started to cry, saying she could not spare us that we must all stay together."

"I told her that I could not stay in the same house with a drunkard, even though he be so dear to me and I have loved him all my life."

"Now I seem to have lost all respect for him—a brother. I seem to regard him as a perfect stranger, and when he is under the influence of liquor I hate him."

"Is it proper for me to leave home? Or shall I persuade my mother to tell my unfortunate brother to leave? If I leave I will support the family just the same."

Your question is almost impossible for an outsider to solve. I can readily understand your mother's position in wanting to keep the family together. I can also understand your feeling of resentment against your brother. Now let us see your place, however. I would make every effort to have the boy stay at home.

THEY ARE SEPARATED.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have two lovely children and my husband sends me enough money so that I am able to live comfortably. I will not go into the unpleasantness in our lives but to say that we scarcely have seen one another for three years. I cannot prove anything, but I feel certain that my husband has been unfaithful. Now he writes that he wants to go and live with him again, that he wants a home. Such a 'home' would be a veritable hell for me."

"Should he insist and should I refuse I want to know whether he would be able to turn my refusal into grounds for divorce, either in this state or any other."

Without knowing more about conditions, I would be unable to advise you in regard to the matter. I think, if possible, for your children's sake, you should try to live with your husband. I would suggest that you consult a legal aid society or some reliable attorney in regard to the matter.

SHALL SHE CALL HER 'MOTHER'?

"Dear Miss Libbey: Will you kindly tell me the proper way to address a mother-in-law? It is right to begin a letter to her, 'Dear Mother,' and what is the correct wording, if this is not? Also, when speaking to her personally, what is the correct way in addressing her?"

"SUNDAY JAKE"

Address her like you would like to have your husband address your mother. Tell her "Mother," by all means.

And the fact that everything in this store is new makes it a desirable place to trade.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 11, 1882.

The El Paso County Sunday School workers met at a convention at the First Methodist church in this city and effected a temporary organization, which they intended to make permanent.

A small boy playing with matches set fire to the awning over the Avenue Bakery, on Pike's Peak avenue, causing a small conflagration, which was, however, extinguished before the fire department could get there.

Mrs. M. Robertson of Pueblo arrived in this city to solicit aid for the sufferers by the floods in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee. Mrs. Robertson was ex-president and an active worker in the Colorado Ladies Benevolent society.

Shortly after being taken from jail the tramps in the chain gang declined to work on the streets, saying that they were not sufficiently well fed. The officers marched them up and down the streets for a while, and then removed them to the county jail, where they were to be kept on bread and water until they were willing to work.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 11, 1892.

Hon. George W. Childs and party arrived in a private car to be present at the opening of the Printers home. They were met at the station by committees from the Chamber of Commerce and the local Typographical union. They were driven out to the home and afterwards entertained at a dinner followed by a reception at the Casino.

Marshall Dana was making every effort to clear the city of vagabonds during the celebration attendant on the opening of the Printers home, and was rounding them up and putting them on the chain gang as fast as they appeared.

The tall iron smokestack over the boiler house at the college blew down and, as it was impossible to warm the buildings, the students had a holiday.

The Chaffee Light Artillery arrived from Denver to take part in the exercises in connection with the opening of the Printers home.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CARIBBEAN POLITICS

XI. INTERNAL TROUBLES IN SANTO DOMINGO

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

SANTO DOMINGO, D. R. April 25.—

The Republic of Santo Domingo is now in the throes of another revolution. It was hoped by the government at Washington that the control of the Dominican customs houses by United States authorities would serve to put an end to revolutions here. But it has not worked out that way; and while the convention between the United States and Santo Domingo is of such a nature that foreign complications can scarcely follow such revolutions as do occur, at the same time great internal problems may still arise. For instance, the treaty provides that Santo Domingo cannot increase its debt while it is in force, so that the money lenders of the world are on notice that the United States will not recognize new obligations made either by revolutionary or government forces. In this way, although the treaty may not prevent revolutions, it is still effective in preventing the multiplication of outside problems, as well as in preventing the contending forces from raising a great deal of money for war purposes.

The present revolution is regarded by the best informed here as a sort of popular protest against the present administration. The constitutional president—at least he was regarded as such—was assassinated last fall. Immediately a young military chap named Alvaro, Victoria, aged 27, seized the reins of the government and announced that he intended to make his uncle Eladio Victoria, president of the republic. He called in the ministers one by one and served notice on them that his uncle must be the next president, and told them exactly what he expected each man in authority to do to bring about that result. As he had the army firmly under his control, there was no appeal from his decision.

While the uncle is nominally the president of the republic, in reality he is the creature of his aggressive young nephew. Immediately after the Victoria's seizure of power, the uncle was a cleaning out of those who had held office under the former president. The cleaning out process was followed by the installation of the relatives of the Victoria's in all the good places under the government. The nephew, coupled with the method by which Victoria was made president served to arouse a popular protest throughout the republic, and it was not long before this took the shape of open revolution with the rallying ground. It has gradually spread over the more remote provinces and seems to be growing.

The moving spirit of the revolution is Horatio Vasquez, who, along with his partisans, was exiled some time since, going to St. Thomas, Danish West Indies and there awaiting a favorable opportunity to launch the revolution. As he is something of a popular hero, and as the discontent over the manner in which Victoria was forced upon the people is widespread, he has brought about a situation that does not look any too favorable to Victoria and his nephew.

With this situation in the country, the state department at Washington has set to work to bring about a compromise. It is informing the Victoria's that their future is somewhat dark, and that if they do not agree to make certain concessions they are likely to lose everything.

On the other hand, Vasquez is being told that the Washington government appreciates the fact that he was out of the country at the time that the Victoria's came in and was therefore denied the right to take part in the selection of a successor to the murdered president. He is also being advised that if he will agree to have the matter settled peacefully, the United States will try to arrange a compromise that will be satisfactory all around. It is possible that this peace-making effort will succeed. If it does it will be because the United States controls the customs houses and both sides feel that it will be difficult to navigate the Dominican ship of state without the friendly help of Uncle Sam.

If the peace negotiations set on foot by the United States do not pan out, it is hard to tell just how long the revolution will last. There is one hope which the Victorias indulge, and that is the possibility of an "unpleasantness" with their ancient enemy and neighbor, Haiti. Haiti possesses about one-third of the island which the two republics share and two-thirds of its population. Its people for years have been too thickly settled to thrive, and they have always looked longingly across the international boundary line with a desire to possess themselves of some of Santo Domingo's territory. Indeed, this desire years ago ripened into a grave international dispute about the boundary. Haiti insists it is at one place and Santo Domingo says it is at another place. Haiti insists that it is far back on what Santo Domingo says is her territory. Santo Domingo has the possession that is said to be the nine points of law, but the controversy is still unsettled.

Opportunity for Boy Dictator.

The Victorias would welcome a passage at arms with the colored neighbors in the western third of the island over this question. It would arouse the national spirit, unite the warring factions in Santo Domingo, and give the boy dictator of the republic a chance to establish himself as a national hero. But here again the outlook looks unpromising. When Secretary Knox visited President Comte of Haiti, he had a little heart-to-heart talk with that ducky ruler about Haiti's international relations. He reminded Comte that the same in the hands of the Santo Domingo revolutionists seemed to be guns that once belonged to the Haitian army, and admonished him that it would be best for Haiti to let Santo Domingo alone. President Comte promised that he would not bother Santo Domingo, and it is said that he is living up to his promise so well that the Victorias are unable to scrape up any sort of a quarrel with him, even over the international boundary dispute.

It is said by many persons here that if President Victoria were left to his own devices he would probably make a very good ruler. He is related to many of the best families of the country, is a kinsman of the archbishop and has always stood well among his people. But he is completely under the domination of his tyrannically disposed nephew, and there is a bitter hatred toward this young fellow. It is said that he lives in perpetual fear of assassination, a fear that probably is justified.

Same Chauffeur Drove Knox.

Ramón Caceres, the former president, was assassinated by political enemies. He had gone out into the suburbs to visit a relative who lived in the house now occupied by the American minister, Mr. Russell. The conspirators got some automobiles and went out to this place intending to shoot him, and

BUSCH MAY COME TO RESCUE MOFFAT ROAD

DENVER, May 10.—Adolphus Busch, the St. Louis millionaire brewer, is quoted in a dispatch to the Wall Street Journal as saying that the reversion of the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific railroad has not caused him to abandon his interest in the destinies of the road. The announcement has instilled hope into the Moffat road management that Mr. Busch may yet come to the rescue of the company and finance the extension to Salt Lake which would tap the vast asphalt deposits owned by the brewer in Utah and give him a market for his product.

Several weeks prior to the reversion Mr. Busch it is said, opened negotiations with President William G. Evans with a view to placing part of the last fortune at the disposal of the officers of the road for the construction of the extension. Both President Evans and Colonel Dodge, general manager of the road, held several conferences with Mr. Busch but nothing ever came of them and since the reversion it was generally supposed that Busch had abandoned all thought of aiding the road.

NEW YORK May 10.—Folk-BRANDT, formerly valet to Mortimer L. Schiff, was ordered sent back to Dannenberg prison by the appellate division of the supreme court today. The court was unanimous in dismissing the writ of habeas corpus granted by Justice Glendon to Brandt, who had served five years of a 10-year sentence for burglary in the first degree.

The government of New Zealand is replacing its wooden telegraph poles and letter box posts with reinforced concrete ones.

"Permanent Injunction" Not to Eat at Home of His Brother-in-Law

When the court calls a permanent injunction against J. J. Daffner of Colorado City not to eat at the home of his brother-in-law, Jerry Whittenbeck, was issued yesterday in Justice Bryan's court. Several weeks ago Whittenbeck swore out a warrant charging his brother-in-law with disturbance. Justice Bryan decided that all the trouble was caused by Daffner persisting in dining at the Whittenbeck home, so he decided that, as justice of the peace, he should prevent trouble.

Well-Attended Meeting Young Men's Republican Club, Standard Building

A meeting of the Young Men's Republican Club of El Paso County was held last night at its rooms in the old Standard club building, Colorado City, with about 200 present. Dinner was served by the wives and sweethearts of members of the club. Speeches were made by Arthur Cornforth, W. C. Robinson, William M. Swift and William Robinson, all of Colorado Springs and County Chairman F. P. Schreiber and the president of the club, Emil Stocker, both of Colorado City. R. S. Ellison of Colorado Springs acted as toastmaster.

The club rooms were decorated with flowers and ferns, and an excellent dinner was served.

According to President Stocker, three of the speakers were Roosevelt adherents and two supported Taft, though all urged party harmony. The sentiment of the meeting, said Stocker, was to support the candidates of the Republican party county state and national no matter who the nominees are.
